FEDERAL AID FOR COUNTY HIGHWAYS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, October 11.—That Federal Aid funds should hereafter be expended only upon roads which are included in an intercounty system of main highways, is becoming a fixed policy in many states, despite the fact that the present Road Act does not require such use of the money.

Pennsylvania, Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wyoming and Washington, are states which recently have practically decided to confine their Federal money to roads that count in well defined state systems.

"If the National Government is to continue the policy of appropriating Federal funds to the forty-eight states for highways improvement, a positive obligation should be placed upon the states to give aid to their county units," asserts President David Jameson of the American Automobile Association, which organization devoted its country-wide energy to the passage of the Federal Aid Road Act and urged such legislation at a time when it was far from popular.

"If it is the correct thing—and we believe it is—for the wealthier and more settled states to give assistance to the Federal treasury to the less populated and undeveloped parts of the country," argues Mr. Jameson, "this national cooperation carries with it an obligation to the state to function as a commonwealth in the form of inter-county roads built and maintained entirely at state expense."

"While it has been found necessary in some states to employ automobile registration money in floating state bond issues, this should not be done except as a last resort, simply because there is need of yearly maintenance funds and these are best supplied by the registration and other taxes collected from motor cars. The total of this money for the whole country now exceeds $50,000,000."

"Matching Federal money with county money is an unfair acceptance of the Federal Aid Road Act, which its sponsors expected would call for state dollars and an insistence on the part of the Secretary of Agriculture that such must be the case. When the time comes for a renewal of the Road Act and its partnership with the several states, the A. A. A. will contend that additional appropriations should be safeguarded by holding the joint money to the main inter-county highways. It is only on such a basis that more Federal money can be justifiably taken from the National treasury. The help is from the nation to the states, and in turn the states should aid the counties."

"And beyond this partnership there is the now logical demand for a Federal system in charge of the general principles of which are embraced in the so-called Townsend bill, introduced in the senate by the new chairman of its post office and roads committee. It will be remembered that Senator Bankhead, the preceding chairman of this committee, was the prime mover in the passage of the Federal Aid Road Act. It is our hope and expectation that Congress at its regular session beginning in December next, will find early occasion to take up this meritorious measure, behind which are all national bodies that have to do with highways improvement."

MOTOR TRUCK SURVEY STARTED

Dr. Eugene H. Porter, New York State Commissioner of Foods and Markets, has started a survey of the existing rural motor truck express routes in New York state and the possibility of extending this comparatively new means of transportation for the marketing of farm products. In his opinion, a very large saving in the cost of transportation and distribution of foodstuffs can be effected by the establishment of motor truck routes to bring food directly from the farm to the market place of the city. A great amount of waste, resulting from delay and unnecessary handling, can be eliminated. New sources of supply can be opened up through the establishment of new market outlets for rural districts now having inadequate transportation. The farmer who grows vegetables and fruits on a very large scale may be able to have his own motor truck for bringing his goods to market, but the small farmer cannot afford to own and operate a motor truck, and it is unprofitable for either of them to give up their time from productive work on the farm to bringing small quantities of foodstuffs to market.

The survey begun by Commissioner Porter is first covering the motor express routes coming into New York city. Full data for each is being collected. This data will include such details as the tonnage carried, system of management, profits made, type of service rendered, and the relation of this service with the actual needs of the territory covered. This same information will then be secured for every other section of the state.

Following this survey is a study of the farming areas which are situated to ascertain where present transportation facilities are inadequate and where motor truck routes would make it possible the bringing to city markets of farm products which cannot now be profitably marketed. Particular attention will be paid to the farming areas within trucking distance of New York city, with the idea of encouraging the organization of new motor truck routes that will enable the farmers to send more products to this market. If possible, such routes will be connected up with public markets or other market places where the consumer may derive an immediate benefit from the direct contact with the producer. Commissioner Porter states that he believes the greatest results will be secured through the co-operative ownership of rural motor express lines by the farmers of the community that they serve. A co-operative express line of this kind was started by the farmers in Harford county, Maryland, to bring milk and other commodities into Baltimore. It has proved so successful that the farmers have purchased several additional trucks and have established a purchasing department which buys for members supplies at wholesale prices. The farmers all over the country are becoming interested in this movement. New York has been behind other states in its development of the motor truck express idea, but with the assistance of Commissioner Porter and his department, there will undoubtedly be a great impetus to the movement in this section of the country. It is Commissioner Porter's plan to take up the technical problems of operation of the motor truck line, and with the co-operation of Cornell University and the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, work out standardized systems of management. It is his purpose to develop the motor truck route from the country to the city market, not merely as an agency of transportation, but also as an agency for looking after the personal interests of the farmers in the handling of their products. In the investigations that the State Division of Foods and Markets is undertaking, Commissioner Porter is securing the assistance of the county farm bureaus, various farmers' organizations, city market men, and the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. He is also co-operating with the New State Highway Transportation Committee appointed by Governor Smith.

M. E. CONFERENCE IN MARGARETVILLE

Strong Program is Carried Out—Dr. Grinton Presided—Epworth Convention Also Held.

The fifty-second annual session of the Kingston District conference of the New York annual conference, opening with a love feast, was held in the M. E. Church of Margaretville on Tuesday and Wednesday, October 7 and 8. The Rev. George W. Grinton, D. D., district superintendent, presided. B. M. Denniston was elected secretary and treasurer.

The district superintendent had provided a remarkably strong program, which was so fully and promptly carried out, and with such emphasis upon the spiritual tending toward revivalism, that it became, though modern, a veritable pentecost, unto those present, and it will go down in history, and live in the experiences of the participants as one of the very best, if not the consummate conference in the life of the Kingston district.

Dr. Elmer A. Dent, executive secretary of the New York area, gave to the conference the whole church's program of "A Million Souls for Christ" by June 1920: 200,000 from the mission fields; 650,000 through our Sunday schools and 150,000 from the world at large. He emphasized the twelve points of efficiency in the centenary conservation program, such as intercession, stewardship, life service, prayer meeting and Bible study. He spoke of (1) Our Great and Heavy Responsibility, Unprecedented Opportunity. Are we ready? Dr. John L. Fort, D. D., thought a leader in our finance commission, under the spell of the hour, forgot finance and spoke powerfully upon "On-coming Evangelism and its Requisites," outlining the availability and adaptability of the unit system in revival work.

President E. S. Timpie, D. D., of Drew Theological Seminary, delivered a remarkable address, Tuesday evening on Evangelism. His premise was "Methodism and Evangelism Synonymous." Methodism was born in a revival and will live so long as she is evangelical. She is evangelistic in spirit and missionary in organization. He emphasized conviction, conversion and passion. The session of Wednesday morning was given over largely to addresses by the pastors of the district upon "Methodism and Revival," chief of which was the one delivered by P. C. Weyant of Kingston, stressing personal contact with Christ, and a substantial content to our faith.

These were followed by a powerful appeal from Rev. John Callahan of Hadley Rescue Hall, New York city, in which he laid upon his hearers the importance of their doing all that was necessary, conditionally in God's promises, and that He would be faithful who had promised.

Dr. Grinton, the district superintendent conducted an old time consecration or altar service at the conclusion of the conference which was the spiritual climax of all the sessions.

More men appeared at the conference for license to preach, revival of license and for passing examinations in the various courses of study than ever before in the history of the Kingston District Conference.

League Convention.
The Epworth League Convention opened at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon with the sacrament of the Lord's Supper, conducted by Dr. G. W. Grinton, District Superintendent, assisted by Rev. E. N. Hubbard and Rev. E. C. Tambora. This was followed by greetings by Edgar Austin, president of the Margaretville League, who made the visitors feel theirs was indeed a hearty welcome to the village, as was evidenced in the response by Rev. E. L. Mauter, stock and the loud applause of the visitors.

After the report of the district president and other organizational business came one of the most impressive ceremonies of the convention—the unveiling of the service flag of the churches of the district, a total of twenty-seven flags, each bearing a dozen to scores of stars. The next hour was given over to the Junior League, under direction of Mrs. S. P. Hines, district superintendent.

The morning devotions, an address by Rev. Charles S. Denning of Korea and a business session on Thursday morning, with the awarding of banners and installation of officers, brought the convention to a close, and the prize banner for efficiency went to the Margaretville Chapter.

ROAD SURFACE AND AUTO TIRES

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, October 11.—"Twenty-eight million tires are now yearly necessary to equip the passenger automobiles and motor trucks in use in the United States. To this should be added not less than twelve million more tires, for many vehicles accumulate mileage to such an extent that a second set of shoes is necessary, to say nothing of the thousands of inner tubes."

"Forty million tires and their inner tubes at an average cost of $25 gives a total tire bill of $1,000,000,000—a fairly tidy annual expenditure for road travel and transportation. Hence it is high time to pay a little more attention to the effect of the various road surfaces on the motor vehicle instead of considering only the damage by the motor vehicle to the road," says M. O. Eldridge, director of roads of the American Automobile Association. "You can scarcely pick up a paper without seeing in it something about how and why the fast moving passenger car and the loaded motor truck damage the road, and, as you read on you note how the writer proposes to design a highway to withstand these effects, and how speed and weights should be limited, and how the cost burden should be distributed."

"Few of those who discuss transportation questions give thought to the fact that our seven million motor cars which require annually twenty-eight million tires, exclusive of renewals, create a problem: namely, how fast will these tires wear out on each type of road surface? Compare for instance, the smooth residence of Fifth avenue with the rough, gritty, and flinty surfaces so often encountered on country roads, and try to imagine what a tidy sum in tire bills would be saved if we half all travel on avenue surfaces. The savings in tire costs alone would pay the difference in construction costs in many instances."

"How much does the road surface govern the amount of gasoline required by the motor vehicle? This is an important and timely question, for right now serious minds are worrying over the future of power sources for motor cars. No conclusive tests have been made on all types of road under absolutely uniform conditions and with disinterested motives. Such data as has been assembled shows that road surfaces offer tractive resistances running all the way from 300 lbs. or more per ton for sand and loose gravel to 20 lbs. and less for the best grades of smooth hard surfaced pavements."

"These tests, however, should be standardized and made authoritative so we can tell whether the saving in tires and gas and car and engine justify change in type or a modification of the conception that the road and not the vehicle is the principal consideration."

How England Honors Nurses

Honors paid to Edith Cavell have brought to light the fact that England delights to honor women who give their best to the profession of nursing. The first statue in the country raised to a woman, other than royalty, was that of Dorothy Pattison in Walsall, as a memorial for her work during the warlike epidemic in Staffordshire in 1917, while a figure of Florence Nightingale stands in Waterloo place. This statue was, on the day of the homecoming of Edith Cavell's body, proudly decorated with laurel wreaths from an unknown donor.

Woman Nature.

Modern thinking, according to Freud, is really only a return to the principles of human nature, will have to take account of all there is in human nature. And one of the first things we need there is the necessity, in order that man may come to his true self, that he be possessed by something, something beyond himself.—Jonathan Edwards.

The Mean Man.

Everybody knows the story about poor Tom Sharkey, who electrified the loungers in his saloon one day by saying heartily, "Well, boys, what are you going to have?" And then, as the loungers gathered round the bar, he added, "Rain or shine?"

Representative Gordon Lee of Chicago told a story of a similar kind about a mean man at Atlantic City. Some friends visited him on a bet evening and after they had sweated a while in the sitting room he said: "Well, friends, could you stand some refreshments?"

"We certainly could," the visitors replied, and they moistened their dry lips in pleasant anticipation.

"Then," said the mean man, rising, "we'll open this window. There's promise of a breeze."

LET'S GET TOGETHER.

Anyone who cannot see the field of usefulness open to the newly organized Catskill-Shawangunk Mountain Association and the need for such an organization must be blind indeed. Hereafter all advertising of this resort region has been of the narrowest and most hit-or-miss kind, each advertiser seeking to direct attention to his own little corner, without reference to the manifold attractions that surround it. It never seems to have occurred to anyone that the visitor in search of the restful quiet of Lake Mohonk might also want to spend some time in the less somber atmosphere of Catskill, or that after a week in the mountain-encircled valley of Roanoke the tourist might care for the matchless panorama shown from the mountain top on which the Catskill Mountain House rests, want to go trout fishing in the headwaters of the Esopus, or drive an automobile over the hundreds of miles of good roads that run through the valleys. The way to draw people to the region is to let the world know about the region as a whole, its accessibility, its widely varying attractions, and impress the fact that nowhere in America is there such a variety of scenery as in Delaware, Greene and Ulster counties.

Will all this help Kingston? It surely will, in the same way that it will help Catskill, Saugerties, Stamford, New Paltz, Ellenville and a score of other places, by bringing more visitors to the Catskill-Shawangunk Mountains. Once the tide sets this way it is up to individuals and societies to get their share by being worthy of it and letting the visitors know what they have to offer. In doing this it will not be necessary to detract from the advantages of other resorts or localities in the region. There has been too much of that sort of thing in the past. A combined "boost" for the whole region is the thing that is needed. Everything in it is good although some things are better than others. There is variety sufficient to suit all tastes and pocketbooks. It is not necessary to go to the White Mountains for wide outlooks, to the Adirondacks for secluded valleys, to Canada for lakes or to Southern California for fine automobile roads. We have them all right here. Let's get together and tell it to the world.

TREE SURVEY COST NOTHING.

Contrary to the report which certain persons are circulating, the city has not taken any action to create a forestry department or to hire a highly salaried forestry expert. The only action taken by the Board of Public Works has been to cause a removal of a few dead trees which were condemned as dangerous and as unsafe. Apparently, some certain person or persons are interested in the spread of this incorrect statement for political or other reasons. Anyone who is in touch with city matters and has a thorough understanding of its administration would or should know this and realize the unfairness of attempting to mislead the taxpayers and voters.

The true facts are that a tree survey was made last year by Professor L. D. Cox, without expense to the city. Professor Cox is the professor of landscape ornamentation of the New York State College of Forestry. He was assisted in his work by Professor R. B. Faxon of the State College. Professor Cox made the survey and report for New York City in 1918.

The Kingston survey was made as a guide for the smaller cities that might desire to carry on some tree work. It is valuable to the citizens of Kingston as it describes the present tree situation here, and gives a detailed consideration of the species and varieties suitable for local use, the culture and care, and other features.

The Board of Public Works has control of the trees within the street lines. Before a citizen can plant a tree in the street, he must make application to the Board, according to the charter and ordinance of the city.

With this complete report before it the Board can prevent the planting of trees not suited for this locality or for street use, and can also regulate the proper spacing of trees, and give necessary instruction in regard to the proper planting and care of the trees.

 Every citizen who intends to plant a tree in front of his premises is desirous of planting the variety best suited for his property and of planting it properly so that it will be given the best chance to grow up and furnish beauty and shade for him and enhance his property. Every citizen will welcome the opportunity of receiving the special benefit of the knowledge and experience of these landscape and forestry experts as applied to Kingston which was given without expense to them or to the city.

OUR TAX RATE.

That the tax rate in Kingston is not comparatively high is indicated by the report just issued by the State Bureau of Municipal Information which gives the 1919 rates of the cities which have fixed tax rates thus far this year. The rates per one thousand dollars assessed valuation, as given, are as follows:

Albany	$31.00
Amsterdam	37.81
Auburn	33.10
Batavia	32.44
Buffalo	38.86
Binghamton	39.87
Coltses	30.49
Fulton	46.00
Jamestown	31.77
Lockport	37.27
Mechanicville	42.60
Utica	33.04
Newburgh	36.70
Oneonta	35.19
Plattsburg	47.80
Port Jervis	47.60
Rochester	29.25
Saratoga	51.40
Troy	29.40
Watervliet	48.00

In many of the cities the tax rate for 1919 is not determined until November, December or January. In most of the cities the rate is greater this year than that of a year ago. In Kingston, the rate was less this year than last year. The rate in this city for 1919 was $28.50 for state, county and general city purposes and the school tax was $9.87. This is a creditable showing compared with other cities considering that the present tax rate is still carrying a load of over $5.00 inherited from the prior administration, and that we are receiving tangible results, apparent to everyone, for the money expended.

In ancient times the king was literally the best man, or the man who could pre-eminently achieve. Albert of Belgium, who earned his title to a throne, is perhaps more fully a king in this sense than any other modern monarch.

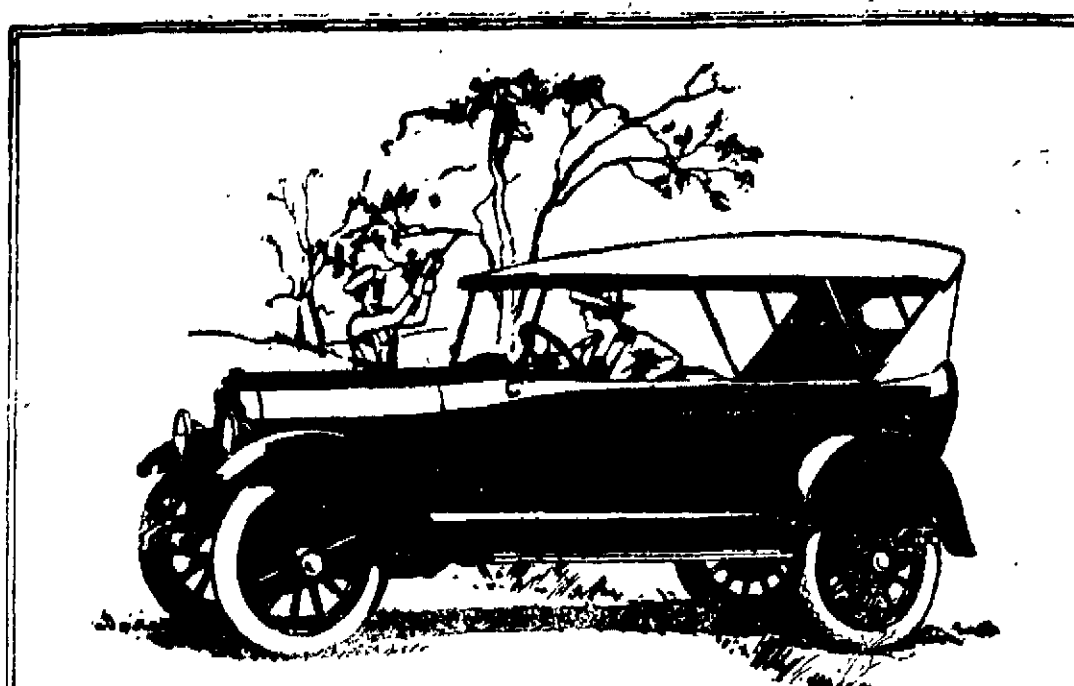

King Albert is the third reigning monarch to visit the United States, the first having been the copper-colored King David Kalakaua who came from Hawaii in 1874, and the second Emperor Dom Pedro II of Brazil, who visited us in the Centennial year of 1876.

Why is Mauna Loa, after years of repose, now vomiting scalding lava from the bowels of the earth beneath it? Why are there volcanoes at all, and why should there be a sort of giant melting pot beneath the earth's crust? He who gives a satisfactory answer must do more than repeat one of the several guesses of admittedly stumped scientists.

The prohibition law permits the manufacture of "non-intoxicating" cider and fruit juices exclusively for use in the home, but does not provide for nature's process of fermentation which immediately sets in. If the householder is not permitted to imbibe after these liquids inevitably become intoxicating, is he expected to manufacture frequently and in very small quantities so that he can drink it all up before it misbehaves? And if so, what about the decay of the harvest of fruit that is thus kept waiting? As the prohibition statute does not solve this difficult problem, of course the householder will be likely to manufacture in quantity as heretofore and thus in no great while inevitably break a law which nature itself defies.

enable you to SAVE TIME—do not knit for soldiers or sew for the Red Cross—because they require little or no stirring—come at all if fire is properly regulated, thus making it unnecessary for you to stay constantly in the front of the summer kitchen.

Aluminum utensils are NOT "all the same." That's why so many women prefer "Wear-Ever." Look for the "Wear-Ever" trade mark on the bottom of every utensil. If it is not there it is not "Wear-Ever." REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

ABOUT THE TOWN

If There Is Any Question As to Who Wins in an Argument, a Man or a Woman, Just Ask Any Married Man—He Knows The Stroller Hears.

"I thought you would never wear a red tie," observed the customer this morning as he glanced at the glaring bunch of red worn by the busy barber. "I know I have often said so," replied the barber mournfully, "but the wife thinks that red becomes me, and what can a man do in that case?" "Huh," grunted the customer distastefully, "before I'd let a woman tell me what I ought to wear, and what color."

"Is that so?" retorted the barber, "well just wait your time is coming and coming fast. A single man can certainly learn a lot of things about women after he is married more than he ever dreamed of. Just wait until some woman puts her stamp on you."

"You married guys make me tired," interrupted the customer, "to hear you talk you'd think that the woman bossed the house, and all you do was to jump when she said 'No'."

"Ye-e-e lots to learn," observed the barber pleasantly. "But, come, come," said the customer, "no man will ever get the best of me. I boss in my own house, and I expect to remain boss."

"There is one bit of advice I want to give you on the day you are married," said the barber.

"What's that?" asked the customer.

"Never argue with a woman for you'll always get the worst of it," replied the barber.

"Not if I know it," retorted the customer.

"I have a friend," continued the barber, who is happily married and he said the same thing you did before he stepped off to double harness, but he has learned his lesson."

"I gather from what you say," said the customer, "that all married men are hecked."

"Then you gather wrong," replied the barber, "for it is only a small minority of the married men that I know of who are in that condition and it is their own fault."

"They should have put their foot down during the first weeks of married life," replied the barber.

"But I thought you just said that a woman always got the best of the argument," interrupted the customer.

"Well I have found in my married experience that they generally get what they wanted," said the barber, "and I suppose one of the reasons we always give in to the gentler sex is our innate chivalry for we hate to see them weep."

"Sure?" asked the customer.

"Sure," replied the barber, "tears are woman's best argument, and I have often seen ten tear drops add a new dimension to the furniture, while a dozen tears were sure of a new rug for the parlor."

Don't Count Funny to Him.
Little Augusta had never seen a bald-headed man closely until one day a friend of the family came to dinner. When they were all seated at the table Augusta looked very intently at his bald head for several minutes, then whispered in mother's ear: "Mother, hasn't Mr. Reid funny, shiny, pink hair?"—Exchange.

One woman has a broken collar bone, other members of the party are scratched and bruised, and a Stevens-Duryea automobile is completely wrecked as the result of an automobile accident which occurred on the Milton avenue hill, Highland, Thursday night between 11 and 12 o'clock when the car, owned by a family named Maxwell, in Saugerties, skidded and turned turtle.

There were four women, two men and a child in the car which was on its way from Brooklyn to Saugerties. The injured people were brought to the office of Dr. W. Blakely by Arthur Frager, who happened by soon after the accident. They were later removed to their home in Lloyd Place's car.

BRADY ELECTED C. E. PRESIDENT

At the Annual Rally of the Kingston Local Union of Christian Endeavor held Friday at Hurley—Other Officers Elected.

W. W. Brady, Jr., of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church, was re-elected president of the Kingston Local Union of Christian Endeavor held Friday evening in the Reformed Church at Hurley. The other officers elected were: vice-president, Miss Lillian Metcalf of the Ponckowascon Union Church; corresponding secretary, Miss Nellie Woolley of the Fair Street Reformed Church; recording secretary, Miss Evelyn Bugge of the Port Jervis Reformed Church; treasurer, Miss Gladys Claw of the Wurts Street Baptist Church.

The rally was well attended, and practically every society in the union was represented at the session that evening. The C. E. banner was awarded to the Hurley Reformed Society for having the largest representation of its members present at the rally.

The principal address of the evening was delivered by President Brady whose topic was "The Forward Movement," and he delivered an interesting and instructive address.

The reports of the secretary and treasurer showed that the union was doing a worthwhile work and was in fine shape financially.

STATE W. C. T. U. CONVENTION

(Contributed.)

The Centenary Methodist Church of Binghamton, N. Y., has become the center of W. C. T. U. activities in New York state for there is being held the forty-sixth annual convention, as a big banner over the platform announces "Victory Convention."

Jubilant women who have worked for years for the prohibition amendment have come together to celebrate the victory and plan for future action.

Banners of different counties and patriotic decorations are draped around the gallery. Prominent among the posters displayed is one announcing "Over the Top in Pledges, Orange, Plaster, Fulton."

Old Glory, the picture of Frances Willard, palms and cut flowers decorated the platform.

On Thursday evening prior to the opening of the convention on Friday morning a get together meeting was held in the church. The opening number was a duet, "Whispering Honeys," beautifully sung by Mrs. Giles H. Dickinson and Mrs. Edwin R. Weeks, after which Mrs. Mary B. Wood of Ithaca led in prayer.

Mrs. Boole introduced the mayor of Binghamton Hon. Leroy E. Barnes, saying that mayor for once was not absent from the city, sick or had a previous engagement at this particular time. However, the mayor assured the delegates that he did have another engagement at 8 o'clock, but considered this one more important and gave the hearty greetings of the city.

Prof. D. J. Kelly, superintendent of the public schools, followed with greetings representing the educational element of the city, saying he had forced democracy on the world and must build up character to back it up and gave the greetings of the school.

Rev. James Bonninger, pastor of the church, then presented the greetings of the churches of the city.

The greetings from the Women's Clubs were given by Mrs. Charles M. Dickinson of the city, formerly Miss Alice Minard of Plattekill, Ulster county, who paid a wonderful tribute to the work done by this pioneer organization of women.

Mrs. Adelaide B. Bradbury, president of the Broome County W. C. T. U., voiced the greetings of the local white ribbons.

Mrs. Helen Andrews Miller, state lecturer, Albany very gracefully responded to the greetings.

Mrs. Boole, the president, gave the announcements, after which Mrs. Frances Graham, state vice-president sang, "Hail Off to the Flag!" with dramatic effect.

At the close of the program the state officers, and the officers of Broome county who entertained the convention, formed the receiving line for the reception which followed.

An unusual number of delegates were present and the officers anticipate that this will be the largest and most enthusiastic gathering ever held by the organization in New York state.

Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion, made its social debut at the armory last night in one of the first dances of the season. It was a success in every way, shape and manner and proved to Kingston that the local Legion Post, though in its infancy, promises to be one of the leading organizations in social activities in this city.

Over 300 were present at last night's dance, quite a number of which were former service men. Music for the occasion was furnished by Shurtz's orchestra, which has acquired a number of new musicians and which with its snappy, jazzy playing and chorus singing gave considerable "pop" and life to the occasion. Refreshments were served during the dance and a number of applications for membership in the Legion were received at the booth established for that purpose.

Major Loughran Will Speak.

Major E. D. R. Loughran will be the speaker at the men's social to be held at the First Reformed Church Thursday evening, October 16. Dr. Loughran was among the first of Kingston's sons to volunteer for overseas service at the outbreak of the war with Germany and the services he rendered were of a distinguished character.

Samuel S. Brown and William J. Turck entertained a party of guests at the Roxmor Inn Friday evening. The party motored out to the famous resort in the afternoon and at 6 o'clock were served a beef steak dinner. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. William H. Van Ert, Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. LeFever, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Horner, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Hinds, Mr. and Mrs. Jay E. Klock, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel S. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Turck and Miss Louella M. Turck.

Flag to Leave Kingston Monday

Arrives Today From Catskill and Will Remain Here Over Sunday—Exercises at the High School Monday Morning.

The Roosevelt Memorial Flag which has already completed more than 550 miles of its flight, is now journeying down the lower Hudson valley. The flag left Buffalo on September 3 and its flight has taken it to historical points of interest throughout the state, reaching Albany on Thursday last where it remained during the night draped over the chair where Colonel Roosevelt sat while presiding over the council meetings while governor.

From Albany the flag was carried by high school boys to Hudson where the thirty-fourth star was sewed in place yesterday afternoon in the school hall. After impressive exercises in Hudson the flag was carried to Catskill, where it remained over night and was taken today to Kingston to remain over the week end.

Monday morning Kingston will hold its exercises in the high school after which the flag will continue its journey to Poughkeepsie. From Poughkeepsie it will cross the Hudson to Newburgh, down the west shore to West Point, across the river again to Peekskill, and then to Stony Point and to Tarrytown. From Tarrytown the flag will be carried into greater New York and will arrive in Oyster Bay on the anniversary of Colonel Roosevelt's birthday, October 27th, where the forty-eighth star will be sewed in place.

In its entire flight the flag has been carried aloft by high school boys and members of the Boy Scouts. Mountains, lakes and rivers have been no obstacles to the boys. It is their way of honoring the great American, to honor whose memory the Roosevelt Memorial Association is to conduct its membership campaign during the week of October 20-27.

Exhibits Anjou Pear.

Dr. Henry Van Hovenberg of 195 Wall street was exhibiting today, a pear of the Anjou variety, sent by his son, Harry Van Hovenberg, who has a fruit orchard in Oregon which with other fruit bearing trees contains 7,000 pear trees and 5,000 apple trees.

Must Be Discreet.

Of course every man ought to be liberal with his wife, but there is no sense in giving her enough money to hire a divorce lawyer.

Optimistic Thought.

Titles may be purchased, but virtue is the only coin that makes the bargain valid.
